

ABSTRACT

A method for creating and distributing recordings of events may include the steps of negotiating with an artist and a promoter or venue, obtaining rights to create and distribute copies of a recording of the event before the event occurs, pre-selling copies of the recording of the event, creating copies of the recording of the event, distributing copies of the recording of the event, and distributing revenue generated by distribution of the copies.